ORIGINAL REPORT

The exact date of this report from August 2017 is unknown.

H. had been crossing the border from Serbia to Croatia by train. In Zagreb he took a taxi, and asked for this address : CFP Studies (cesta 112 A), apparently an organization that helps refugees. After introducing his case, the people he met from this organization took him to the police station, where he was suppose to give his fingerprints to start the asylum process. Instead, he declares that the police officers beaten him, and he was put in a van with others refugees. They were drove back to the Serbian border, several kilometers far from Sid.
